a) Feedback from District Council Climate Emergency Committee

The Chairman welcomed Councillor Grant to the meeting. He reported on actions pursued by the District Council over the past two years. It declared a climate emergency in 2019, just before the change of administration in May. An advisory committee was set up and a cabinet member allocated with specific responsibility. Targets were set in the Council's Corporate Plan with net zero by 2030 and a 75% reduction by 2025. Details of current district emissions have been published on the council's website. Government grant funding has been provided to decarbonise the Faringdon Leisure Centre. Funding for other schemes was being explored. The District Council was aiming to work with others in order to achieve a coordinated approach. The District Council has recently published its tree planting policy. This includes a procedure to allow third parties to plant trees on District Council owned land. An action plan to achieve the above targets was due to be published by the end of the year. The Local Plan and Design Guide were being updated and will aim to promote low/zero carbon development. More information was available on the minutes of the Climate Emergency Advisory Committee minutes on the District Council's website.

Elizabeth Kingdom, the District Council's Climate Action Lead, had proposed a Teams meeting with representatives of the Town Council to share maps showing carbon emissions across the district and three main owns. The Clerk agreed to arrange this.

c) Update from Mr Wilkin of HARBUG

The second Active Travel Working Group meeting was due to be held on Wednesday that week. This prospectively would be a recap of the first meeting held in February. Mr Wilkin hoped to hold monthly meetings in the future. The aim was still to produce a walking and cycling plan.

Remedial works on the greenway route between Wantage and Harwell had been completed.

Another missing cycleway link had been identified on the Crab Hill development at the western end connecting to the cycleway on the A338, Grove Road. This highlighted the need for the District Council to give more attention to route connectivity at the planning stage.

The Chairman was discuss with others. Action: Dunford

The proposals to invite representatives from the recycling centre at Ardley to give a Zoom presentation to councillors and the public at the beginning of a sub-committee meeting or a separate meeting, and the suggestion that presentations by an officer of the District Council and Seacourt printers about waste recycling and carbon reduction experiences, had not yet been progressed. Action: Dunford
